A few pages from the senior year book for Miss Cushing, with the compliments of Thomas Tilley Morse.

DEDICATION

In any list of men memorable for long and intimate connection with this school, and affectionately remembered in it, the name of The Reverend Glenn Tilley Morse of West Newbury will always be included. Member of the Board of Trustees since 1913, donor of that cherished Commencement prize, the Morse Flag, generous giver of time, effort, and money to every advance made in the school during his long association with it, he has this year conceived and executed yet another great project, the restoration of the original schoolhouse.

To Mr. Morse, therefore, we hereby dedicate The Milestone of 1938, in recognition of his service to Governor Dummer Academy and in token of our affection for him.

EDITOR'S FOREWORD

The current school year has been marked by two major accomplishments—the acquisition of the Noyes farm, and the restoration of the old red schoolhouse. Important as is the Noyes farm, with the new corridor, the new shops, and the space for new playing fields, the editors have thought it fitting to feature the restoration of the original schoolhouse in this, the one hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary number of the yearbook. And the editors are proud to present as a feature article Mr. Morse's account of the restoration of that building.

The Little Red Schoolhouse

By The Rev. Glenn Tilley Morse, B.D.

To all who love Governor Dummer Academy there is one object especially dear, the little old red schoolhouse. We are proud of the imposing beauty of the Mansion House, home of Lt.-Governor William Dummer, founder of the Academy. It conveys to us some of the stately character and generous hospitality of that honored gentleman, who served the colony of Massachusetts Bay faithfully and was a loyal subject of his king and country. Time after time he was honored by his fellow men. Through his long years of public service he made an honorable record and, at the end, left a lasting heritage which has blessed and enriched many generations. His public spirit and generosity in founding the Academy, the first of its kind in America, still thrills our hearts with grateful appreciation. The Mansion House was a proper setting for so dignified and excellent a gentleman.

We love the broad acres in this beautiful landscape, with the arching elm trees waving their graceful branches high over head, and the extensive meadows stretching far and wide to give us ample room. The old and the new buildings are scenes of precious memories that will linger in our minds and be recalled in fond reveries when we are far away. The landmarks are engraved upon our hearts, seeming to cluster about and to be linked with the old milestone.

But there is one object most dear, the little old red schoolhouse, for which we have a feeling of protective affection, akin to the love for a dear old mother to whom we are indebted for our lives and to whom we give long, tender care. The little house was built in 1762, as the mother building of the school at that time founded here. It is so little and yet was large enough to house the infant school.

Generations have come and gone, in numbers far outgrowing it, but here the little schoolhouse has remained in constant, useful service. Now, in its old age, one hundred and seventy-five long years, especial care must be taken to preserve and perpetuate this beloved object if we would have it longer.

The anniversary this year seemed a good time to celebrate the completion of so long a service in the oldest private boarding school in America by saving and restoring this original schoolhouse. Our object has been to preserve all the old material that remained and to replace exactly what was too far gone for longer service. For our architect, we have been fortunate in securing Mr. William Graves Perry, who has won fame in this kind of work by directing the restoration of Williamsburg, Virginia. We can depend upon his skill and experience. After careful examination of the original foundations and the construction of the building, he drew the plans.

The restoration is giving us our treasured relic as nearly as possible in its appearance and condition at the time the school was started, on that first day of March, 1763, and furnished with contemporary objects which might have been there then.

We have had revealed to us a long-forgotten door in the side of the building.

We enter a narrow hallway with rows of wooden pegs for the boys' hats and coats and there is a bootjack to remove their heavy boots so necessary in the old colonial days of deep mud and snow. On each side is a schoolroom. A stone chimney in the center of the west side gives a corner fireplace of old-time brick in each room.

The twenty-eight boys of 1763 sat on long, backless forms and used simple desks, each accommodating two or three pupils. On the desks, old pewter ink pots and quill pens offer means of writing. Of course, sand-shakers are there instead of blotters. In one room is a high desk at which the master might stand or sit on a high stool. In the other is a seventeenth-century desk, which conceals twelve secret drawers, and which has on one side a long box for quill pens. Standing in a corner is a dunce stool, with a pointed cap for any boy whose naughtiness required him to be pilloried.

A tall clock marks the time, but with only the hour hand; so one must guess the minutes. In its front door is an old bull's-eye glass, as though the clock were keeping watch on how one spends one's time.

For the very small boy, a hornbook is provided to teach him how to read. The small boy's boots with heavy tops and copper toes are drying near the fireplace. A portable foot-warmer long enough to accommodate three pairs of feet stands near-by.

Upon the wall hangs an oil portrait of King George II. The painter was John Wollaston, who came to America and made quite a reputation as a portrait painter about 1758, painting the mother of George Washington, Washington's stepchildren, George Whitefield, and numerous others. King George III was then prayed for every day by his faithful subjects in the school. This was an English school, and here is the old English flag for the boys to salute, as we salute the Stars and Stripes today. Even the English flag has changed; this one bears the crosses of St. George and St. Andrew for England and Scotland and preceded the union with Ireland and the cross of St. Patrick. The English flag is here, as it was in 1763.

Today we love the Stars and Stripes. An American flag is given at each Commencement and, after it has flown over our school for a year, it is presented as one of the most coveted and honored prizes to the student then graduating whose record at the school is considered by the faculty most creditable. It is called the Morse Flag in memory of Anthony Morse, a first settler of Newbury in 1635. So we honor our flag. But in 1763 there were no Stars and Stripes nor any United States of America. George Washington was then a young officer in the English army, fighting against the French for England and King George. Governor Dummer Academy is older even than our nation. This should cause us to appreciate our school's great age and to value its traditions. The school has witnessed the birth of our nation and its growth.

A swinging bell hangs above the end of the gabled roof, and its sweet tones peal far and wide to call the school together. This old bell came from Boston. We had the opportunity to obtain a bell made by Paul Revere, but that was too late for us.

What a little school it was on that windy March day, one hundred and seventy-five years ago when Master Moody called his twenty-eight boys to assemble and to start the sessions that have continued as Governor Dummer Academy!

A sundial marks the passing of the sun, which has shone on the little red schoolhouse for close on two centuries. One might almost expect to find the dial worn by the passing shadows marking so many hours. The lettering is quaint; the hour of four is marked with IIII instead of IV.

A sixteenth-century panelled Bible-box with iron-bound corners, rests upon a contemporary table, which may be changed from a half to a whole circle by swinging a turned gate-leg. School began with Bible reading daily. On the box rests a Bible which was given by one of the oldest living graduates of the Academy, Mr. George William Adams, one of six generations in direct descent who have graduated here. What other school in America can match that record? His family has provided three trustees and two headmasters. Seventy-four of his blood and name had been enrolled here before the present century began. In Mr. Adams' home, "The Highfields," a college preparatory school was held before 1760, of which we have a good record. It was then the home of Captain Samuel Adams. Joshua Noyes, Jr. was the teacher of that private school, under the direction of three trustees, the Reverend Moses Parsons, John Adams, and Richard Dummer, cousin of the Governor. The schoolroom was the "further bedroom" from which a door opened into another room of equal size, both having fireplaces. The woodwork of one fireplace was decorated with initials cut by those pupils.

Probably the Governor's cousin told him that Captain Adams' further bedroom was not suitable for a school of twenty boys; and he may have suggested the need of better provision and may have sowed the seed which ripened into the bequest which founded the Academy. The records of the school show seven named Adams, three Parsons, two Woodman, and one each Hale, Stickney, Frazer, Longfellow, Dummer, Chute, Thurlow, and Noyes. Some of these must have been in the school opened in the little red schoolhouse in 1763. An eighteenth-century Bible coming from the Adams family is very acceptable and, since we are all descendants of Adam, we can have a family feeling for the old Adams Bible. From the old Adams house have also come the large hearth-stone bricks used in the restoration.

Another gift is a pair of scales which belonged to Master Moody; with them he weighed the coins paid for tuition. In the cover to their case is a table showing just how much each gold or silver English coin should weigh to be of full value. These are furnished by Master Moody's great-great-grandniece, Mrs. Sally Moody Cook of York, Maine. A large table, with turned legs framed in, shows the wear of more than three centuries.

Master Moody's chair was given to the Academy some years ago by Miss Harriot Coleman of Newburyport. It might be called a contribution from our present Headmaster, Edward W. Eames, because it is his favorite chair, and he makes a real sacrifice in giving it up to be in the little red schoolhouse. My own favorite chair accompanies the Master Moody chair. It has a wide desk arm and is most comfortable and convenient for writing.

On the wall two medallion portraits in papier mâché, of George III and Queen Charlotte, represent them as young as they were in 1763. Old colored prints of George II and Queen Caroline are there also.

A map of what was later the eastern half of the United States and Canada was made by Robert Morden, who made maps and globes in London from 1668 until his death in 1703. Its colors are as bright, its ink is as black, and its paper is as good as when it was printed two hundred and forty years ago. However, one must be careful not to learn his geography from it; for there are some curious variations from present-day knowledge.

A hand bell is ready for Master Moody to ring for order; and a ruler and a cane are convenient for discipline. The schoolmasters of those days were likely to hurl a ruler at an offending pupil. Master Moody caned the disobedient. It is said that he had a quick temper and twirled his cane furiously on occasions. At one time he struck so hard that the cane, missing the boy, broke upon the form on which he sat. The boy did not flinch; and Master Moody was so delighted with the brave spirit that he forgot his anger and called upon the school to admire the boy's self possession and intrepidity, predicting a distinguished future for him. I believe that boy was afterwards Commodore Preble, famous in the American Revolution.

Master Moody's training was thorough and effective; he developed character as well as mind. Many of his pupils became great men of national reputation.

We can recall that old colonial English school as we inspect the restored schoolhouse, and we can appreciate the Academy's growth and development and can take pride in our long traditions.

During more than a quarter of a century that I have had the honor of being a trustee, I have desired to have the little red schoolhouse restored; and with great satisfaction I now behold it. The restored building and the furnishings, except the Bible, the scales, and Master Moody's chair, are my gift to the Academy on its one hundred and seventy-fifth birthday.

Some have thanked me for this gift; but I feel that I ought to give thanks for having the privilege and pleasure of restoring and preserving the little red schoolhouse. May this old school last for future centuries, linking us to the homeland and being a witness to the future, as well as the past, of our beloved country! God bless the little red schoolhouse and all it means to all who love it!

Exchange Students

Siegfried Borkowski

Heinz Drewke

Three years ago Governor Dummer first participated in the foreign student exchange policy, an experiment which has proved successful here as in other preparatory schools in New England. Each year several of the European schools send representatives to America in exchange for our students who are sent to them.

This year we have had three exchange students with us. Alan Bullwinkle of Belfast, Ireland, came to us from All Saints' School, Bloxham, England. Chandler Fuller of the Class of 1937 went to Campbell College, Belfast, Ireland in exchange. Alan played on the school football team, is a member of the track team and of the Glee Club, and has made a name for himself among the student body.

Heinz Drewke of Berlin, Germany, came to us in September from a German school at Naumburg and remained until January, when he returned to his own school and was replaced by Siegfried Borkowski from the German government school at Struhm, West Prussia. Sheldon Harris of the Class of 1937 is our representative in Germany. He is attending the government school at Naumburg (Saale). Both German boys entered readily into school life and quickly adapted themselves to American customs.

Since Alan is a member of the graduating class, his picture appears among those of the seniors. Those of Heinz and Siegfried are printed above to remind us of many pleasant and profitable associations.

The Football Season

Mr. Edward Eames
Coach

The 1937 football team proved to be a very successful one, the Governors winning four games, tying one, and losing one. The team scored a total of ninety-three points to their opponents nineteen, and allowed only two teams to cross their goal line. At the beginning of the season the squad was lacking in veteran material, but hard work and unusually fine spirit combined with the excellent instruction of the four coaches, Mr. Edward Eames, Mr. Arthur Sager, Mr. J. Dana Allen, and Mr. Richard Wickenden, to develop a fast, hard-driving team.

In the opening contest, played at Andover, the Governors defeated the Andover Reserves, 27-0. Russ Simons carried the ball over the Andover line early in the first quarter after a sustained drive down the field. Burwell Glenny took a pass from Hannon and went over in the second quarter to make the score 13-0 at halftime. Early in the second half Matty Hannon scored, and in the closing minutes Russ Simons tallied after a 43-yard run.

The following week the team inaugurated the home season with a 26-6 victory over Tabor. Tom Tenney, fleet fullback of the team, scored three times in this game on long, sweeping end runs. Tabor scored in the third quarter after a series of passes but failed to convert. John Koslowski scored the Governors' final touchdown in the last quarter after a series of line plunges. The team then proceeded to win its third consecutive game by defeating Thayer Academy, 27-0, during a driving rain. The muddy field caused many fumbles, but the Governors held the advantage throughout. Scoring early, they were never in danger, thanks to the fine defensive work of Captain John Barrows and Walter Faget in the line.

The tie game with Vermont Academy on the following Saturday was one of the most thrilling games ever played on the home field. Although Vermont was on the defensive during most of the contest, their excellent kicking saved them from defeat. The Governors crossed the five-yard line three times, but their eagerness led to penalties and fumbles and prevented any scoring. The following Friday the team defeated the Adams House team of Harvard. This team, leader in intra-mural football at Harvard, was composed of players several years older than the Governors, but the smooth and aggressive play of the home team proved to be unbeatable. Tom Tenney scored in the first period on the Princeton scoring play. The conversion failed, but shortly afterwards Russ Simons ran twenty-two yards to score again.

The last game of the season, played at Providence with Moses Brown, resulted in the only defeat. A heavier Moses Brown team took advantage of a wet field with a series of power plays to smash over the Governors' line for two touchdowns and one conversion. Both scores occurred early in the game. The Governors' greatest threat occurred in the fourth quarter when Mike Lawler intercepted a pass and ran seventy yards before being brought down.

There were many fine players who contributed to this successful season. Captain John Barrows made an inspiring leader. Leonard and Gordon Ellis and Burwell Glenny did fine work at the end positions. Niles Perkins, Walter Faget, and John Ross, tackles, and Captain Barrows, Mike Lawler, Loring Hubbell, Ted Lacey, and Alan Bullwinkle, guards, received their letters for fine all-round play. Robert Olander, Francis Pierce, and Leonard Poor earned their letters at center. Russ Simons and Matty Hannon capably called the signals, and Henry Cleaveland, Bill Cochran, and Frank Collins ably substituted for Tom Tenney and John Koslowski in the backfield positions. John Koslowski was elected captain for the 1938 season.

The Soccer Season

Mr. Howard Navins
Coach

The soccer team began its second season as a major sport at Governor Dummer with many of last year's recruits on the roster.

The first game, on October 5, was won from the Perley High School in Georgetown, 3-1. George Simson, Bob Shumann, Jack Miller, and Captain Norman Pitcairn all played a fine offensive game, while the inexperienced backfield performed surprisingly well. The second game was lost to Medford High School, the Governors being able to score but one goal to Medford's seven. After handily winning the next game from the Essex High School, the Maroon team lost a 7-1 decision to the Phillips Exeter second team, and in a return game with Perley High School the Governors lacked sufficient drive to avert a 2-1 defeat.

A house team at Andover defeated the Governors at Andover despite good defense work and the fine exhibition of David Goodhart, playing his first game as a regular. A tie score in an overtime game with Rockport preceded a defeat by the powerful Exeter eleven, 10-1. There was constant pressure on the Governors' goal during this game.

After a number of days of hard practice the Governors next travelled to Kimball Union Academy and showed the best teamwork they had displayed all year, at the same time proving what an inspired team can do, by taking the game, 8-2. The high scorer of the game was Heinz Drewke, the German exchange student, who netted four of the Governors' eight points.

For the season's performance, praises go to Norman Pitcairn, the able leader; to Miller, Shumann, Hewitt, Drewke, and Simson, all forwards; and to Ransom Smith, Phil Cox, and Allen Shott, inexperienced players who turned in some fine defense work. Windsor Frost and Hugh Byfield, veteran defense men of last year, gave confidence to their less-experienced mates.

Everyone on the squad enjoyed the sport under the able coaching of Mr. Howard Navins, Mr. Robert Iglehart, and Mr. Benjamin Stone. Now that soccer has gained a permanent place at Governor Dummer, the popularity of the sport will no doubt become more widespread.

The Hockey Season

Mr. Morey Eames
Coach

Although the material did not appear so promising as that of last year, the 1938 hockey team improved enough to make the season a successful one. Captain Leonard Poor with Ted Munro and John Ross made a very effective combination for the first line. Dick Page, Gordon Tooley, and Phil Lees made it possible for Mr. Eames to use two lines of equal strength throughout the game. Bob Lyle was the strongest substitute on the team, working well with either combination.

Gordon Ellis and Ralph Bean, forwards of last year, were shifted to defense and added much to the team's spirit. Burwell Glenny and Frank Collins, defense substitutes, played strong defensive hockey; and Art Rolfe made many sensational saves in the net. Ted Lacey also saw service as a goalie.

The season opened with a defeat at Belmont Hill. The boys from Belmont had been on skates for several days and proved too fast for the green but stubborn Governors. On January 22 the Governors defeated Roxbury Latin in a game marked by the aggressive play of the team's two lines. Considering the poor playing conditions, the passing was exceptionally good as Dick Page, John Ross, and Gordon Tooley combined for two scores.

Invading the Dover, New Hampshire, High School rink the team again returned victorious. There was heavy scoring with every boy on the squad seeing action. Poor played his best game of the season. He beat the goalie for his second score of the game with a dash down the sideline in the closing seconds of the contest. In the following weeks the team dropped three games to Amesbury, Malden, and Malden Catholic High Schools, largely because of poor ice and lack of practice. Two of the games went to overtime periods, however, and the team was never downed until the final whistle.

The Governors closed the season by defeating a favored Brooks team, with Ted Lacey turning in a fine performance as goalie. With a fine victory, therefore, the team repaid the patient and inspiring coaching of Mr. Morey Eames and Mr. Chandler Hill.

The team was fortunate this year in that the cooperation of the school in clearing and resurfacing the rinks enabled the squad to practice every day that there was any possibility of ice.

The Basketball Season

Mr. Howard Navins
Coach

The Governor Dummer basketball team went through one of the most successful seasons in recent years, defeating nine of its twelve opponents. Mike Lawler was the high-scorer of the season with 132 points, and Captain Russell A. Simons led his team competently.

The team played its first game against Milton Academy, and won in a close, hard-fought contest. The second game, against the Alumni, was marked by more accurate shooting and by a smoother attack. This game, which was won by the Governors, was paced by Don Mortimer and John Koslowski, who scored 13 points and 10 points respectively. The team continued its winning streak against Austin-Cate Academy, but suffered its first defeat the following week at the hands of a strong Exeter aggregation. The Exeter game was close throughout, with the decision being in doubt until late in the final quarter. Mike Lawler starred for the home forces, tallying 12 points.

As was the case last year, the season's most exciting game was against Salem Teachers' College. Mike Lawler tied the score with a foul toss within fifteen seconds of the end of the game, and then went on to score ten more points during the following overtime periods to lead the Governors to victory.

The team defeated Huntington School and lost to Harvard '41 in its next two starts. It rallied from the Harvard defeat, and won from Kimball Union on the following afternoon. During this game Johnny Koslowski tossed in eight field goals and three fouls for a total of 19 points.

Andover won from the Governors, who came back with successive victories over Babson and Tabor. The final game of the season was against the freshman team of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, one of the strongest teams in this section of the country. Russ Simons led the scoring with 15 points, and played a fine defensive game in the victory over the Technology boys.

Mr. Howard Navins, the coach, did a fine job of rounding the team into shape, and with four of the first seven men returning next year, the 1939 squad should be a good one.

The Wrestling Season

Mr. Leander Kirk
Coach

Wrestling, this year as last, proved to be one of the more popular winter sports. The majority of the boys on the squad this year had never wrestled before, and for that reason it was particularly pleasing to the coaches, Mr. Leander Kirk and Mr. Colin Kerr, to observe steady improvement throughout the season.

In the first meet with Milton Academy the Governors were under a definite handicap in that they had had but a week of practice before the meet. Although our wrestlers were, by score, rather badly defeated, all of the boys showed plenty of spirit and fight. Bill Ferris pinned his opponent as did Tom Tenney, Governor Dummer's captain and most experienced wrestler.

On January 29 a strong Phillips Exeter wrestling team defeated the Red and White on their home mats. The coaches felt, however, that our team had shown great development. Dick Hannah wrestled a fine match against Benchley, Exeter's captain; and Tom Tenney gave his usual exhibition of skill as he pinned his opponent. John Barrows also fought an exciting and grueling match. His match went into two two-minute overtimes and finally resulted in a draw.

Perhaps one of the closest matches of the season was that with the Harvard Freshman Reserves. Norman Pitcairn threw his man neatly to win his match. Bill Cochran, who had joined the squad in the middle of the season, put up an excellent fight for seven minutes but lost by the referee's decision. Tom Tenney retained his clear record by pinning his man with no difficulty. In an informal meet on February 26 with Phillips Academy, Tom Tenney wrestled Byrd of Andover and won the referee's decision. Byrd is considered one of the finest wrestlers in his class in the East and had previously been undefeated. Tom won all his matches throughout the season and proved to be a clever and powerful wrestler, as well as an excellent captain.

Charles T. Tenney
Captain

In a meet with Browne and Nichols the Governors concluded their season with a victory. Bill Ferris won his match on a decision, and Tom Tenney pinned his man with a double bar arm overhead. Both coaches felt that except in actual scoring the season was a successful one.

The Winter Track Season

Shortly after the end of the Christmas vacation the winter track squad began practice, and under the able guidance of Mr. Richard Wickenden the team rapidly began to get into condition. There were only ten men in the running events and but two in the weights. These men whipped themselves into shape in time to compete in the Eastern Seaboard Relay meet in the Boston Garden on February 12.

Mr. Richard Wickenden
Coach

Under favorable conditions the Governors won the two-lap relay from Browne and Nichols in the garden, but unfortunately lost the one-lap relay. Captain Jack Bell did an exceptionally fine piece of running in this meet. The Harvard Private School meet, held this year at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology track, was the Governors' next assignment. It proved to be by far the hardest one of the year in the matter of competition. Niles Perkins donated five points to the team when he won the shot-put with a heave of 48 feet, 11 inches. Jack Bell took fourth place in the thousand-yard run; and Alan Bullwinkle, the English exchange student, took fourth in the six-hundred-yard dash. This meet demonstrated that the team had definite possibilities.

The Browne and Nichols meet, the only dual meet of the year, turned out to be nip and tuck all the way. The Governors took first place in the shot-put, with Perkins starring again. Captain Jack Bell did a noble job against Nickerson of Browne and Nichols, who ran the thousand-yard dash in two minutes and twenty-nine seconds. Roland Noble starred by taking third place in the forty-yard dash, second in the forty-five-yard hurdles, and second in the three-hundred-yard dash. Dave Huggins won first place in the high jump, and Bill Cochran and Jack Miller tied for second place in the same event. The meet, however, went to Browne and Nichols by a score of 34-27.

John Bell
Captain

Both in points scored and in improvement of individual performers, it can safely be said that the winter track team enjoyed a thoroughly successful season. Moreover the development made by the members of the winter team has contributed to the success of the spring team, since Bell, Bullwinkle, Huggins and Noble have earned many places in competition.

The Baseball Season

Mr. Edward Eames
Coach

With only three veterans, Mike Lawler, catcher Henry Cleaveland, and outfielder Leonard Poor, and with a great number of inexperienced players seeking positions, the prospects looked rather dismal to the coaches on the first day of practice. The makeshift team which was started against Groton after one week of drill dropped its opening game, 16-6. In a contest marked by errors and by a decided lack of hitting strength, the Governors were easily out-classed by a team which had been unable to defeat them during the past eight years.

After another week of practice the team showed great improvement in fielding but was still weak at the plate; consequently they were shut out by the Milton Academy team, 4-0. Washburn, pitching for Milton, struck out sixteen batters and allowed but one hit, to the Governors' newly-elected captain, Michael Lawler.

The coaches, well pleased with the defensive play in the Milton game, devoted the next five practice sessions to batting; and in the third game, with the Harvard freshman seconds, the Governors played errorless ball and showed real hitting strength. Captain Lawler shared the hitting honors with Frank Collins and Henry Cleaveland as Johnny Koslowski shut out the visitors, 8-0.

On the following Tuesday, the Governors, now more confident and better organized, subdued an aggressive Brooks School team, 8-3. Gordon Tooley pitched the entire game and was never in difficulty.

The game with Kimball Union on May 7 was one of the best played on the home field. The Governors began hitting early and scored three runs in the first. Johnny Koslowski pitched faultless ball until the sixth, when the visitors exploded the Governors' 3-2 lead and scored four runs on costly infield errors. The final score was 10-5 for the visitors.

Despite the set-back in the Kimball Union game, Mr. Eames, head coach, Mr. Navins, Mr. Hill, and Mr. Curtin, assistant coaches, are impressed with the improvement the team has already made.

The Track Season

Mr. Arthur Sager
Coach

The 1938 track season opened on April 23 on Morse Field as the Governors defeated Danvers High School 54-45. Tom Tenney starred, winning the javelin with a throw of 142 feet 8 inches and the broad jump with a leap of 19 feet 6 inches. Captain Niles Perkins won the shot-put with a heave of 44 feet 4 inches and Roland Noble won the 100-yard low hurdles in 14.4.

In the following week the team was again victorious in a meet with Newburyport High School, 65-16. Captain Perkins began the scoring for the Governors by winning the shot-put. David Huggins was high scorer of the day. He won the hundred in 10.4, the 120-yard low hurdles in 14.6, and the 220-yard dash in 24 flat. He also tied with Brooks Merritt and Bill Cochran in the high jump. Alan Bullwinkle received first place in the mile, running it in five minutes and five seconds. Hannon also did an excellent bit of running to win a close decision in the quarter. His time was 58 seconds. He also won the broad jump with a leap of 18 feet 6 inches.

On May 7, the Governors placed fifth among eleven contestants at The New Hampshire Interscholastics at Durham, New Hampshire. The team left school at 6:45 in order to reach Durham for the opening events at 8:30. Captain Perkins won the Governors' only first place by throwing the hammer 177 feet. He also placed second in the shot-put. Roland Noble did an excellent job in the hurdles, winning his heat and placing second in the finals. Alan Bullwinkle, the most spectacular performer of the day, ran the last three laps of the mile minus one shoe and was barely beaten. Tom Tenney earned the Governors' final points with a second in the javelin. The team score totalled fourteen points.

In the remaining meets the Governors will no doubt find stiffer competition, but the coaches feel that many of the members of the team are gaining daily, and that the team will not be outclassed. Captain Perkins, who recently threw the twelve-pound hammer two hundred and one feet in practice at Andover, is expected to set a new record in that event before the present season ends.

The Lacrosse Season

Mr. A. Macdonald Murphy
Coach

The lacrosse team was fortunate this year in having about a dozen players with a year's experience who reported for practice to form the nucleus of this year's team. About twice as many new members also reported to make a total of 27 players on the squad. The team was also fortunate in having experienced co-captains to lead it through a hard season. Russell Simons, last year's captain, led the attack in shifty maneuvers that baffled many a defense. The other captain, Burwell Glenny, came to the squad having had two years experience and did a fine job directing an efficient defense. Russ's agility in thinking and playing gave the attack its effectiveness, and Burwell's speed and weight formed the backbone of the defense.

Just a few days before the opening game the team received the worst blow of the season. One of its best defense men, Gordon Ellis, an outstanding player of last year, underwent an operation for appendicitis and was not able to play again. It is impossible to say what recognition he would have received outside of school, but it is certain that he would have been one of the most valuable players on the team. He left a hole in the defense which, although it was filled as best it could be, could only be properly filled by Gordon.

The team this year has had a full field for practice and started in just where it left off last year. Unfortunately the team met its strongest opponent, Deerfield, who has an exceptionally strong team, for the opener after only a week's practice, and was set back for an eleven-to-two defeat. Deerfield's many reserves were too much for the Governors.

Burwell Glenny
Russell Simons
Co-Captains

The following week the Governors won an easy victory from the M.I.T. Freshmen with Russ's attack men running circles around the opponent's defense. The next game was a surprise defeat by the Freshmen of the University of New Hampshire. Even the good work done by Glenny's defense and by Dave Goodhart in the goal could not avert defeat, 10-2.

In spite of the disappointments and upsets, the hard, clean fighting and the excellent spirit of the team have made it a most successful season for the coaches, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Jennings, and Mr. Morey Eames.

The Tennis Season

The tennis team, led by Captain Charles Hewitt, got off to an early start this year. Favorable weather permitted early practice, and three of last year's veterans, Captain Hewitt, Ben Busch, and Dave Hunter were on hand for the nucleus of a team. Much strength was found, moreover, among the new members. The new-comers included: Ed Sergeant, who plays a steady, realiable game; Teddy McDowell and Tom Collins, whose previous experience is shown by their excellent headwork and by the stability which they have continually displayed; and Sam Kitchell, a capable performer on the courts.

Mr. Benjamin Stone
Coach

In its first match the team was defeated by the Haverhill High School, 5-0. It was the opponents' fourth match, and their experience placed the Governors at a considerable disadvantage. The two doubles teams, Hewitt and Kitchell, McDowell and Sergeant, lost their matches by the same score, 6-0, 6-3. Dave Hunter's singles match proved to be the highlight of the afternoon, although it ended in his opponent's favor, 6-0, 7-5.

The following day the team played the Brooks School team on the home courts and tied them at two-all. For lack of time, the matches unfortunately could not be completed. Sam Kitchell played a fine singles match, winning, 1-6, 7-5, 8-6. Tom Collins dropped his singles after three hard-fought sets; but Ed Sergeant and Teddy McDowell outplayed their opponents in a brilliant game ending 6-4, 9-7, thus tying the score.

Charles Hewitt
Captain

The third match was with Browne and Nichols. Because of rain several of the sets had to be omitted, as in the Brooks match. Both Hunter and Busch made many brilliant rallies in their singles matches, but finally dropped them, giving the victory to Browne and Nichols, 3-0.

Mr. Benjamin Stone of the faculty was called on to coach the team this year and deserves credit not only for the development of the team but also for the hard work and enthusiasm he has contributed to it.

The Golf Season

Mr. Thomas McC. Mercer
Coach

Since Benjamin Joy and Wendell Sargent are the only members of last year's team in school this year, the prospects for the 1938 season were not bright. Mr. Mercer has had a difficult task in selecting the remaining four members of the team from new-comers in school and from members of last year's squad who failed to make the team last year. As the team now stands, positions one and two are held by Captain Tom Parker and Ben Joy; three and four by Dick Brown and Wendell Sargent; five by Harry Davy; and six is still in dispute by James Dodge, James Deupree, Bob Schumann, and Alexander Murchie.

The first match, with Phillips Academy at Andover on April 23, resulted in a defeat for the Governors, 7½-1½. In this match Tom Parker and Dick Brown, playing one and two, tied their opponents; and Harry Davy and Wendell Sargent had a very close match before losing to Andover's three and four players. On May 4 the Governors were hosts to the Phillips Exeter team. Exeter had an exceptionally strong team and won the match 7-2, although the individual matches were all very close and continued until the eighteenth green. Harry Davy and Wendell Sargent tied their opponents for one and one-half points, and Ben Joy and Dick Brown earned the other half point for the Governors. On May 7 the Governors defeated the Malden High School team 8½-½. The match was well played by all members of the team.

Thomas G. Parker
Captain

Still to be played are matches with Thayer Academy, and the Ould Newbury Golf Club, and a return match with the Phillips Exeter team. All are strong opponents; but the team has greater possibilities than the early matches have indicated.

The team is fortunate to have such a fine golf course as the Ould Newbury Club adjacent to the school grounds. The sporty, natural, nine-hole course has been in operation since 1915, and its present condition this year is better than it has ever been previously. Since the school golf squad is limited to twenty members, there is little congestion on the course, and the members of the team are able to play a complete practice round each afternoon.

The Governor Dummer Chapter of the Cum Laude Society received its charter on February 10, 1934. The purpose of the society is to promote scholarship and to recognize scholastic achievement. In secondary schools its function is therefore comparable with that of Phi Beta Kappa in the colleges.

The by-laws of the society state that to be eligible for election a student must attain a minimum standing of eighty per cent during his senior year and must stand in the upper fifth of his class. A three-fourths vote of the faculty members is necessary for election, and the members are pledged to consider the candidate's record in the earlier years of his secondary school work, his diligence, particular aptitudes or deficiencies, and the nature and the number of the courses on which his average is based.

The successful candidates are initiated at the annual banquet of the society during the latter part of May. Alumni members and guests from near-by chapters of the society are present to welcome the new members, and a guest speaker gives an address or reads a paper on some subject of scholarly interest.

The initiation was held this year on Friday evening, May 20, following a banquet in the new Dining Hall. After the initiation the members heard a very interesting address by Mr. William G. Averitt of the Deerfield Chapter on recent developments in the European situation.

The Glee Club

There can be little doubt that the Glee Club has risen to new heights this year and has fulfilled the promise it showed early in the season. Following an announcement by the director, Mr. Arthur W. Sager, nearly a hundred boys tried out for the club; in fact the time seems to be fast approaching when the whole school will try out. As it stood for the first concert, the Glee Club numbered sixty voices, and it was only with great difficulty that room was found on the stage for everyone. The club cannot boast the tone possessed by clubs of fully mature voices; nevertheless remarkable improvement has been effected in that respect under Mr. Sager's training. This year the club possesses a very fine second bass contingent under the leadership of the popular president, Niles Perkins. Without doubt the outstanding voice is that of Burwell Glenny, who has been singing the tenor solo in Passing By.

This year the club has been pursuing a very ambitious program with the concert at Montclair as the first objective. The season opened with a joint concert with the Bancroft School for Girls. There were four joint numbers, of which the most popular was the "Finale" from The Gondoliers by Sullivan. After that concert the club settled down to rigorous preparation for a concert at The Women's Club of Upper Montclair, New Jersey on March 17. The arrangements for the concert were made by Mr. Eames and Mr. Sager from school and by a committee including Mrs. G. E. Huggins, Mrs. John J. Shumann, and Mrs. Russell M. Simons in Montclair. Consequently when the boys began their spring vacation at the end of the concert, they felt that the trip had been a most successful and enjoyable one. The program began with a religious group which included May Now Thy Spirit by Schuetky, Ave Maria by Arcadelt, and the "Pilgrims' Chorus" from Wagner's Tannhauser. Miss Margaret Auë was generously applauded for some delightful cello selections which followed this group. The second group by the Glee Club included The Arkansaw Traveller arranged by Delaney, Deep River arranged by Burleigh, and the now famous Musical Trust, the success of which was greatly increased by the accompaniment of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Stone at the piano. In the last group were Forsythe's arrangement of Old King Cole, an old English folksong called The Vicar of Bray by MacColl, and lastly the "Entrance and March of the Peers" from Iolanthe.

On April 23, the Glee Club convened at Abbot Academy in Andover to give a joint concert with the Fidelio Society. The combined clubs sang Shaw's With a Voice of Singing directed by Mr. Howe of Abbot Academy, and the "Finale" from Gilbert and Sullivan's The Gondoliers under the direction of Mr. Sager. Each club also sang several numbers individually. After the concert there was dancing.

The radio broadcast over WAAB on May 6 was probably the most exciting event of the year from the boys' point of view. At this concert Burwell Glenny, the club soloist, sang two numbers, Dedication and Passing By. In connection with the broadcast, Mr. James Duncan Phillips, President of the Board of Trustees, gave a short talk in celebration of the one hundred and seventy-fifth birthday of the school.

The Archon

The Archon is the regular news magazine published by the students of Governor Dummer Academy. It appears seven times a year and informs students, alumni, and friends of the school of various activities of note. It includes alumni notes, accounts of athletic events, and many other subjects of interest.

In the middle of the winter term a system of co-editors was inaugurated to make the operation of the magazine more systematic and also to increase the share of responsibility carried by the boys. Thomas Collins and Loring Hubbell were the first co-editors, and they share with Editor Henry Cleaveland and Business Manager Robert Block the credit for a very successful year. Another innovation of the current year has been the practice of changing the cover of the magazine to correspond with the seasons. During the year The Archon has run several new columns at different times; but "More Briefly" continues to be the favorite.

Of the number of feature articles that the magazine has printed this year, perhaps the most outstanding was the story that Alan Bullwinkle, the English exchange student, wrote, "Under Two Flags." In it Alan compared his life at school in England with his life here.

The managerial board has done a fine job this year. Robert Block and his staff brought in enough advertisements to relieve the editorial staff from worry about finances; and Donald Stockwell has done very well as circulation manager. On the managerial board as on the editorial staff a number of the younger boys have been active. They have made great improvement and will be the backbone of the staff in the future. The increased price offered for pictures has also encouraged more boys to submit photographs and has thus increased the number and the quality of those published.

The editors wish to thank Mr. Theodore Barry for his guidance and his enthusiasm, which have helped make the year a successful one.

The Science Show

The fifth annual science show, entitled From Hertz's Leyden Jar to De Forest's Vacuum Tube, was presented in the Lang Gymnasium on March 5. The show, which was directed by Mr. Leander Kirk and carried out by members of the science classes, attracted wide attention and was repeated the following week before a meeting of the Harvard Teachers' Association and later at a meeting of the New England Association of Mathematics Teachers at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The demonstration equipment, a series of radio transmitters and receivers, was built by Leonard Ellis, David Hunter, Benjamin Joy, Niles Perkins, Leonard Poor, and Paul St. George.

Slides projected on a screen over the stage helped to clarify the explanations. The slides included pictures of the actual apparatus, schematic drawings made by Hugh Byfield and William MacDonald, and a group loaned by Mr. R. H. Heising. John Gannett and Robert Seavey acted as technicians and handled the projection. Historical material compiled by Thomas Johnson and read by Mr. Kirk served as a framework into which the various experiments were fitted.

N B

In the first six experiments various types of spark gaps were used as transmitters. The most spectacular of these was the rotary spark gap constructed by Leonard Ellis and Mr. Philip Lowell of the faculty. The first experiment was a demonstration of the syntonic jars by William MacDonald. Hugh Byfield operated the coherer, Benjamin Joy demonstrated the crystal circuit, and David Hunter explained the addition of a tuning coil to the receiving circuit. Leonard Poor explained the increased volume produced in the earphones by the two-element and three-element vacuum tubes introduced by Fleming and De Forest. Niles Perkins and David Hunter were in charge of the apparatus used to demonstrate the introduction of the vacuum tube both as a transmitter and in the regeneration circuit.

The final part of the show was an explanation and history of modulation by Thomas Johnson. It was demonstrated by Paul St. George, Niles Perkins, and David Hunter. They successfully broadcast music from one end of the stage and received it at the other.

Those who paused to inspect the equipment which was on display after the show could well understand that this year's undertaking was far more extensive than any of the previous shows. It was felt that although not all members of the audience grasped the significance of each individual experiment, at least they did carry away some general idea of what radio is all about.

The Dances

The annual fall dance of this school year was held on Saturday evening, December 11. The dining hall in the New Building, divested of its chairs and tables and appropriately decorated with pine boughs in honor of the season, was used for the dance. Ken Reeves and his orchestra furnished the music.

In the afternoon there was a tea dance from four until six o'clock. Dinner was served in the dining room at seven; and at eight o'clock the evening dance began, lasting until twelve. Mr. and Mrs. Eames and Mr. and Mrs. Allen were the chaperons.

The dance committee consisting of John Barrows, Ralph Bean, Clark Shepard, Chairman Theodore Lacey, Henry Payson, Jack Miller, and Jack Bell did a very able job of decorating the room and generally supervising the arrangements.

The guests were the Misses Angie Jacobs, Ellen Blanchard, Barbara Phippen, Martha Prouty, Mary Dyer, Edith Ekman, Jannett Harward, Florence Sadler, Mary Anne Waite, Patricia Steavens, Stasia Cuik, Grace Kirby, Linda Loring, Cecily Souter, Jean Young, Ann Wyman, Mildred Ludwig, Jean Sawyer, Sylvia Strickler, Jean McGay, Jane Morton, Joan Waterhouse, Barbara Leland, and Ellen Richardson.

On February 15, following the joint concert of the Glee Clubs of the Bancroft School and of Governor Dummer Academy, a dance was given in the New Building for the members of the two glee clubs. An orchestra from the University of New Hampshire furnished the music. Mrs. Edward Eames and Mr. Arthur Sager were in charge of arrangements, and the members of the clubs enjoyed two hours of dancing after their joint concert.

The Jackson Trip

Governor Dummer made its second annual skiing trip to the White Mountains on the week-end of March 6. The special train left Newburyport early Sunday morning, bound for Jackson, New Hampshire. Arriving at Intervale at noon, the boys were transported to Jackson by bus and devoted the afternoon to skiing and tobogganing. In the evening a series of Austrian ski pictures was shown at the hotel by Carroll Reed, President of the Eastern Slope Ski School. Franz Kray, one of the instructors, explained the pictures. Early Monday morning, under the leadership of Benjamin Podmaniczky, a ski instructor and brother of one of the boys in school, most of the boys made a ski hike to the top of a nearby mountain and there participated in a slalom race. After a full day of skiing, the school left Jackson and reached South Byfield about nine o'clock in the evening. One hundred and twenty-eight persons made the trip, including most of the masters and several of the masters' wives.

Unlike the trip of last year, the one to Jackson was not necessary to compensate for lack of skiing at South Byfield. Shortly after the Christmas vacation came a good snowfall which lasted practically the whole month of January, providing excellent skiing on the slopes near school. The school had no ski team participating in interscholastic meets this year; it did have, however, a ski squad composed of boys who preferred to spend their athletic period on skis. The squad developed a short downhill trail and a slalom course near the first tee of the golf course. During the week most of the other boys were busy with other sports, but on week-ends many of the boys and masters enjoyed the slopes with the members of the ski squad. One moonlight Saturday night, when the skiing was at its best, a large group went skiing instead of attending the movies.

Another event of the ski season was a trip to Belknap Mountain, near Alton Bay, New Hampshire, that about twenty boys made one Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Morey Eames and Mr. Iglehart. They found skiing conditions excellent there, and many members of the group had their first opportunity to use a ski-tow.

The pictures on the opposite page were taken by the boys at Jackson and were selected from those entered in a contest conducted by the Camera Club on April 17. The Milestone extends its thanks to the members of that group for permission to reproduce them here.

Exhibitions and Sketching

There have been several fine exhibitions of paintings at school this year. The first was in November and consisted of a number of water colors by Allister MacDonald. They were on display in the dining hall and caused considerable interest and comment.

During the last two weeks of February there was an exhibition of oil paintings by Mr. Sam Sargent in the New Building. Scenes of Vermont and of historic spots in this vicinity were included. Pictures of "Lord" Timothy Dexter's house in Newburyport, of the Mansion House at Governor Dummer, and of the Mill River bridge in winter were particularly interesting to the boys at school. Mr. Sargent has a home in Newburyport and is director of the Merrimack Valley Art Association. He has taught in a number of art schools in Boston.

The new studio now occupied by the sketching and the mechanical drawing classes provides an ideal place for smaller exhibitions and for the public display of student work. The studio was constructed during the spring vacation in the building which formerly housed the school shop. It has large plate glass windows on the south wall and five large skylights to admit the north light. Along the west side of the room is a balcony, with a door leading to the supply room. Under the balcony is a lighted display board. The first exhibition to be displayed there was of photographs made by members of the Camera Club on the Jackson ski trip.

The Camera Club has also had an eventful year. One Sunday afternoon in October about twenty boys went to Gloucester with Mr. Morey Eames; and with the aid of camera and sketch box they were able to bring back many scenes of the surf and of the fishing fleet.

A candid camera contest held by the club in December was won by Robert Seavey with a candid portrait of Mr. Mitchell of the faculty at his desk conducting a class in mathematics. Leonard Poor received honorable mention for his picture Dorsey Swings It. Later in the winter the club sponsored an exhibition of photographs under the title of Winter. These pictures were on display for a week at Phillips Exeter Academy after the exhibition here.

Commencement of 1937

It is necessary every year to give an account of the graduation exercises which took place the preceding year, because The Milestone is printed and distributed in advance of the exercises of the current year.

The Baccalaureate Service was held at the Adelynrood Chapel on Sunday, June 6. The sermon was delivered by the Reverend Ashley Day Leavitt of Harvard Church, Brookline. The Reverend Glenn Tilley Morse of West Newbury conducted the service.

According to custom the Senior Sing was held on June 10, the day before graduation, and was a very impressive ceremony. Putnam Flint, editor of the Milestone, announced that the 1937 edition of the yearbook would be dedicated to Mr. Joseph N. Dummer, a descendant of the founder of the Academy. The 1937 Milestone made its formal appearance at the Sing, and was distributed after the ceremony.

The graduation exercises were held on Friday, June 11. The Reverend Arthur Lee Kinsolving of Trinity Church, Boston, delivered the address at the exercises which marked the one hundred seventy-fourth commencement of the Academy. The presentation of diplomas to the members of the graduating class was made by President James Duncan Phillips of the Board of Trustees. Mr. Edward W. Eames, Headmaster, awarded the annual prizes, including special and athletic prizes, to the boys who were best qualified in the different school activities. The most coveted prizes, The Morse Flag and the Master's Prize, were received by Joseph D. Hoague and William P. Sheffield, respectively. Following the exercises, the Glee Club gave its final concert in the Lang Gymnasium. Mrs. Benjamin J. Stone played two groups of piano pieces as part of the program.

Luncheon was served to a large group of parents in the gymnasium, and other guests and the members of the school had luncheon on the campus. The annual Commencement Dinner was held on Friday night, and several hundred friends of the school attended. Dr. Claude Moore Fuess, Headmaster of Phillips Academy at Andover, presided as toastmaster at the dinner. Dr. James Phinney Baxter, 3d, Master of Adams House at Harvard College, the Honorable Leverett Saltonstall of Boston, and Doctor Charles C. Tillinghast, Headmaster of the Horace Mann School, were speakers.

Washington and Franklin Medal — Richard K. Merrill

Presented for excellence in United States History.

Special Prizes

To William Gene Griffith of Denver, Colorado, and Edwin Spink Sheffield of Newport, Rhode Island, two leaders among the underclassmen who are respected for their quiet modesty and for their successful habits of study.

To Allen Andrews Dodge of Newburyport, who, entering the junior school nine years ago, has spent the last four years working his way up to the front row in the Glee Club. Today we are proud to point to Allen, not only as "our oldest living undergraduate," but as one of our best beloved seniors.

To Peter Carpenter of Corning, New York, another veteran of the wars, who has marched quietly, and above all steadily, forward during his four years at the school.

To Verges Van Wickle of Miami Beach, Florida, whose cheerful countenance and unfailing attention to his many duties, managerial and otherwise, during the last four years have won for him the affectionate title of "Dean of Duncan House." Van has become a school institution, a boy with whom we truly do not wish to part.

To Edward Bridge Hastings of Brookline, and Richard Schanzle of Wellesley Hills, classmates for three years and roommates in their last year, two boys who have improved as scholars, and who are distinguished among the members of the Glee Club, and among the members of the student body, for their loyalty and leadership.

To a boy whose remarkable improvement as a scholar during his five years at school has been owing entirely to long hours of persistent work; a boy in whom we are all particularly interested today for an additional reason; that is, because he is the only pitcher we have in school this year; to Olaf Knute Helmar Olsen, or as Olie would say, "To two darn good fellows."

To Rollin Medwin Steele of Arlington, a postgraduate student, who by his unfailing good humor and his high sense of responsibility and school loyalty has created a precedent for future postgraduate students.

To George Chandler Fuller of West Newton, and Clark Neily of South Portland, Maine, who because of their performance in the classroom and on the athletic field, and who because of their rare personal qualities of courtesy and enthusiasm and character represent the best this school stands for.

Acknowledgments

Every year there are friends of The Milestone who, although not definitely connected with the staff, yet make generous contributions to the success of the book. We wish particularly to acknowledge our indebtedness to

Mrs. Jane M. Gale for help in our accounting

Mrs. Edgar D. Dunning for hours of proof reading

Mr. Morey Eames for photographic assistance

Mr. Joseph Snyder for securing the majority of the advertisements

Mr. Harold Johnson of the Andover Press for relieving us of our worries

The patrons of the Milestone dance for pecuniary support

And our advertisers for making this book possible.

Exceeding the standards . . .

Typography	Are attractive and related type faces used throughout the book? Does typography suit the plan of book? Is it easy to read? Is there a proper relationship between body type, headings and identifications? Are the following common faults avoided: too many type families or sizes; type used too black or too heavy; body type too small for length of the line; excessive use of all-capitals?	Average Score 15
	Typography . . . . . Your Score 20
*Printing	Do opposite pages line up properly? Are pages properly backed up? (Hold a sheet of your book to the light and note whether or not the page behind lines up at the margins exactly with the page in front). Are bleed pictures properly trimmed? Is the color work perfectly registered? (i.e. does each color fit exactly the spots for which it is intended?) Is the ink distribution uniform throughout the book, or are some pages light and others dark in color? Are the pages free from offset (smudges or spots on the paper)? from broken type? from work-ups (spacing material that registers)?	Average Score 15
	Printing . . . . . Your Score 25

This is the rating given by the National Scholastic Press Association of the University of Minnesota to one of New England's largest Annuals—printed at the Andover Press.

Typography . . . 33% above average
Presswork . . . 67% above average

Which explains why so many yearbooks in this vicinity choose Andover to do their printing.

They get superior workmanship and personal cooperation at a price they can afford to pay.
